GeoLiteracy is a nationally recognized grades K-8 program of 85 lessons based on the Arizona state standards for geography, reading and writing. Created by Arizona teachers, these lessons provide teacher instructions, student handouts, answer keys, maps, student samples, graphics and photos, and assessments that mirror state-mandated testing (Stanford 9 and AIMS). It is a complete package of lessons to aid you in keeping social studies in the classroom while working on raising the reading and writing scores of your students. Piloting results in over 100 Arizona schools show that GeoLiteracy lessons teach both geography and language arts skills.
