People, goods and ideas still cross the border between Mexico and United States.

Factories or Maquiladoras in Mexico assemble products for United States.

Nogales ships many winter fruits and vegetables to the United States.
Mexican trucks take products to American trucks at the United States border

Mexican citizens come to the United States for education and jobs

There is a large flow of people, goods and ideas between Mexico into Arizona and the USA