Teaching with Primary Sources
A Workshop for
Arizona Teachers, Librarians, and Curriculum Specialists

The United States Library of Congress and the Arizona Geographic Alliance are pleased to offer a one-day FREE workshop in the use of primary sources on the Library of Congress American Memory website.

Workshop Leaders
Ken de Masi, Education Director, SouthWest Leadership, Inc.
Diane Godfrey, 6th Grade, Kyrene School District

When: Friday, June 26, 2009 Time: 9:30 am – 3:30 pm
Where: Arizona State University, Tempe
Lattie Coor Building, Room 5536

Program Overview:
This innovative Teaching with Primary Sources program provides instruction on how to access and use the over 11 million digitized primary sources and vast collections of materials from the Library of Congress (http://memory.loc.gov/ammem/index.html).

Workshop Goals:
• Introduce the breadth and organization of the Library of Congress’ digital primary sources
• Demonstrate the value of primary sources in instruction
• Provide examples of primary source-based learning experiences
• Practice accessing and downloading primary source materials
• Create a primary resource set on a topic of your choice
• Strengthen teacher understanding and student learning through the use of Library of Congress primary source-based instruction in the classroom

Supplies needed:
We will be conducting the workshop in 2 university computer lab areas with PC computers. Mac users are welcome to join but Mac participants must bring a laptop computer with wireless internet capability.

Requirements:
  o This workshop will benefit those who have the technology skills to easily navigate the Internet and use cut and paste functions without assistance.
  o Participants must agree to complete a standards-based resource set containing a minimum of 6 primary sources on a specific topic and submit it to AzGA by July 10, 2009.

Perks:
Participants will receive a memory stick with valuable resources and the opportunity to share ideas, compare notes and connect with fellow educators from Arizona. A continental breakfast and lunch is included. Parking expense is covered. Recertification hours (6) will be given.
Cost:  Free but requires a $30.00 deposit refundable at close of workshop to attendees.
Workshop Includes memory stick, materials, lunch, and 6 recertification hours.
